

1418/95

THESIS/FINAL PROJECT No : 306

ELIZA DOOLITTLE'S PRONUNCIATION
CHANGES IN BERNARD SHAW'S PYGMALION

By

Lie Giok Hwi

Reg.No. 11490003

ENGLISH DEPARTMENT

FACULTY OF LETTERS
PETRA CHRISTIAN UNIVERSITY
SURABAYA
1995

UJ
822.8
Vie
E

ELIZA DOOLITTLE'S PRONUNCIATION CHANGES IN BERNARD SHAW'S PYGMALION

A THESIS

Presented in Partial Fulfillment of The Requirements for The Sarjana Degree in English

By

Lie Giok Hwi

Reg.No. 11490003

ENGLISH DEPARTMENT

FACULTY OF LETTERS
PETRA CHRISTIAN UNIVERSITY
SURABAYA
1995

Accepted by Faculty of Letters Petra Christian University

Examination Committee

Guillermina Verzoza, Ph.D.

Chairman

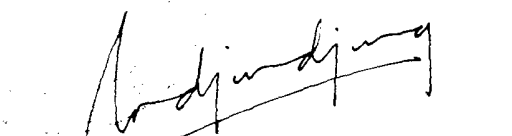

Advisor

Dr. D. Wagiman, M.A.

Co-reader

Dra. Josefa Mardijono

Surabaya, May 12, 1995

Dra. Jenny M. Djundjung, M.A.

Dean

ACKNOWLEDGMENT

The writer has beheld the Lord's love much through the process of making this thesis. She is bowed down inside, in awe of His mercy and blessings that He allowed her to accomplish this thesis.

Her profound personal honor she gives to her advisor, Dr. D. Wagiman Adisutrisno, M.A. and co-reader, Dra. Josefa J. Mardijono for their brilliant ideas, priceless time, ever-faithful aids during the scary parts of writing this thesis. She knows she owed them such a debt for coloring her life with the most outstanding achievement in her life.

Her bottomless thanks she gives to her family, especially to her father and mother for their endless encouragement upon her to make this unbelievable experience in her life come true.

She gives her overwhelmed thanks to her treasured friends, Belda, Santee Williams and Daniel Howard for their extraordinary support during this thesis making.

This thesis will not exist without all these beloved people. The Lord's loving-kindness indeed never cease.